Forest Hills, N.Y., December 18th, 2009 – When is the best time to take the SAT? Should I take the test multiple times? Do all schools – especially the elite universities – participate in the Score Choice program?

These are among the most common questions of college-bound students who are trying to navigate the confusing and intimidating college application process, according to self-described “lawyer, teacher, tutor, mentor and dreamer” Frances Kweller, J.D.

So it should come as no surprise that Kweller – a cum laude graduate of New York University’s Steinhardt School of Education who also earned a J.D. at Hofstra University School of Law (and passed the bar exam on her first try!) – founded her eponymous business, Kweller Prep, to answer those questions and to provide the personalized, hands-on counseling and test preparation that students need to achieve their academic goals.

And the proof is in the test scores. Kweller Prep students report average SAT score increases of more than 470 points, along with study skill improvements that can last a lifetime.

Kweller Prep works with students facing entrance exams such as the New York State Regents exams, the SAT and the LSAT, helps students craft their college and grad school applications and guides them in securing financial aid.

Kweller Prep also helps high school students excel while en route to college, offering tutoring for all High School Regents, Advanced Placement, IB, and Honors courses.

And now, having already helped hundreds of students gain acceptance to some of the most competitive colleges in the country, including those in the Ivy League, Kweller has opened a new facility in Forest Hills to meet the growing demand for her company's services.

She emphasizes quality in all aspects of her business. "My team is exclusively composed of highly experienced tutors, financial planners, psycho-educational and college counselors who directly assist parents and students with all aspects of the convoluted college application and scholarship search process. They communicate directly with teachers and guidance and college counselors to help bring out the best in your child."

"We have the best qualified teachers – all of them have tested in the top 1 percent of the subjects they teach. As a result, our tutoring and educational services are highly recommended by Ivy League college counselors, parents, and students."

"All of our classes are interactive and customized to meet your child's academic needs," she continues, "and we utilize the most innovative testing resources available."

"Most important, the students are our top priority, so my staff and I are available any day, any time. All Kweller Prep instructors make themselves available 24x7 via cell phone, e-mail, text- messaging, and Facebook."

In sum, says Kweller, "Yes, your child CAN achieve! Kweller Prep can help. Try us out! Call us at 1800-631-1757 Today!"
